NINE years ago, according to an exchange, a sailor named Carl Benjamin was wrecked on one of the Caroline Islands. Unable to get away, he threw in his lot with the natives, who elected him king. He is still living there, happy and contented, his "dusky brood" amounting to 19, with fifty descendants.

THE well known steamer Caribbrooke, lately sold to Japan, will be employed in carrying salt from Kobe to Tokio. Her old skipper, Capt. R. Cass, who navigated the Caribbrooke to Japan and duly handed her over to the new owners, returned to this colony by the P. & O. Co's steamer Taheran yesterday.

THE master of the shop in Queen's Road West which was burnt down under such curious circumstances, recently, was again before Mr. Pollock to-day. A little fresh evidence was taken, showing that the alleged "several cases of shoes" which were destroyed did not amount to more than twenty pairs, after which the case was again remanded.

THEIR is a statement in Saturday's China Mail that "Hongkong harbour is silting up in a very serious manner." As this is a matter of paramount importance to the community we shall be glad if any experienced person will inform us whether this assertion is true, or merely another of long-earred "Brownies" speculative mutterings.

THEIR were 332 births and 121 deaths in the colony during the second quarter of the present year, ended June 30th. The Registrar General reports that of these deaths 136 occurred in the Indian Convent, 148 in the Asile de la Sainte Enfance, and 23 in the Tong Wo Hospital. These figures are simply appalling, and loudly call for a thorough investigation.

QUARTERMASTER-SERGEANT MULLINS was taking a little promenade in a steam-bunch in Sal. Way Bay last evening when he saw a middle-aged Chinese tailor making vigorous attempts to drown himself. Mr. Mullins steered alongside and hailed him, and by the grace, and this morning Mr. Wodehouse held an "inkwidge" on the would-be remains. Remanded.

IT will be observed that the statutory meeting of the Selama Tin Mining Co., Ltd., convened for to-morrow, has been postponed until Friday, the 20th inst. This alteration, we understand, has been made in order that Mr. Dudgeon, Secretary of the Perak Tin Mining Co., in liquidation, and Mr. A. V. Ashurst, the new Manager of the Selama Tin Mining Co., may be present. This meeting promises to be far more interesting than the usual run of statutory get-togethers.

A HOME paper states that the Central Borneo Company have decided not to instruct their work to be commenced to open out the colonies at Labuan. Advice has been received, from which it would appear that the conflict is more extensive than stated in the reports referred to in the prospectus. The nature of the new discoveries will be fully explained in the report which the directors propose to issue next month. The Secretary advises that the whole of the capital was subscribed.

A PLEASANT little surprise-party was broken up last night by the officious conduct of two Sikh constables. About midnight they were on the road at Tok-ka-wan, when nine or ten coolies approached. The Sikhs stopped the leader, and the rest at once disappeared in the darkness. The prisoner had a small collection of jewelry on him, comprising a dagger, a crowbar, and a pitchfork. He explained that he was looking out for work, and being equally good as a stonemason and a mafios he was taking along the necessary implements for either line of business. The dagger was simply for defence—fifteen dollars.

THE Government Gazette announces that the teaching staff of the Government Central School—the Gazette calls it the Victoria College, the name given to it by the arch-bumbag Sir George Bowen—has lately been augmented by the arrival in the colony of Messrs. W. C. Crosby, N.A., Edin.; J. J. Booth, R. Haselden, B.A., Lond.; and E. J. Boards. The Editor of the Gazette, whoever he may be, describes all these gentlemen as "Esquires"—which they certainly are not—but exactly the same meaningless designation is applied to every Macanese copying clerk who receives $30 per month, we hope the new teachers won't feel insulted. Why doesn't Governor des Vaux, who is a sensible man, put a stop to all this damned nonsense!

A LITTLE romance was unfolded at the Police Court over which Mr. Wodehouse presides, this morning. A Chinawoman who keeps an unregistered house of ill-fame was charged with buying a girl for immoral purposes, and also with detaining her against her will. The girl's tale was that for twenty years she had eked out a precarious existence with her mother and another Pak-oi, for which parent repaid her last February, by selling for seventy odd dollars. Her purchaser brought her down here, and sold her to the prisoner for $200, and since then she had been a slave, until a Chinese member of the Purty Society came along and, after serving his own ends and hearing her tale, was good enough to send a petition to the Registrar-General, whose officials released her. The prisoner was remanded on $500 bail.

THE 500 yards "Spoon" competition of the Hongkong Rifle Association at Kowloon on Saturday last attracted a fair attendance of members, thirteen "shootists" tooting the scratch. Although the weather was not particularly unfavorable, the shooting was far below the usual standard. As customary the conditions were ten shots each, ordinary rules as to scoring and targets. Carson, of the Police, who started with great steadiness, was looked upon as a likely winner, but at his fourth shot he got off a "bull," and was unlucky enough in his seventh and eighth attempts to score outers, which pegged him back considerably, and although his last two bullets found their mark, the total only reached 40, which was tied by Sergeant Merson, R.A., who, after starting indifferently, piled on four bulls and three "magpies" in succession, and only got slightly off in his last two shots. Lieut. Carlyle, R.A., also commenced in promising form, but he could not keep 'em on the spot, and his register was 37, which was tied by Mr. F. Howell, who wound up with three "bulls." Mr. E. L. Woodin did not shoot up to his best form, and his 36 was tied by Quarter-master Sergeant Williams, R.A., Mr. F. Collins scoring one point less. Meanwhile D. McLennan, of the Hongkong Blues, kept somewhere near the centre of the target, and his six "bulls" left him at his last shot merely to hit the target to win. This he succeeded in doing, and with a total of 42 was hailed the winner by two points. McLennan is a keen marksman and a popular member of the Association, so that his victory was well-received.

THE Chinese would appear to be giving a lot of trouble to the Siamese authorities. A Bangkok paper now states that a small party of regular troops have been sent up to Nacón-Chase to arrest certain of the late Chinese rioters, who, having fortified themselves, continue to resist the authority of the officials of that district.

In an editorial in Saturday's China Mail dealing with the question of the relation between the intrinsic and market value of the shares of local companies, the witter winds up by stating that "in general, whatever interested croakers may say to the contrary, the quoted market prices are not so very far from the figures which the past history and future prospect of the companies naturally point to." The italics are ours. We refrain from criticising our contemporaries' article at present; the opportunity for effectively 'showing up' its fallacies, etc., will shortly arise.

SAVES the Broad Arrow—It can 'scarcely be with the consent of Dr. Elgar, or at all events at his instance, that Mr. Gowing is now to be sent to Hongkong. Such an appointment may perhaps be styled a promotion, but it will not be contemplated in that light by any active officer who has distinguished himself by energy and skill in a home duty. Hongkong dockyard officers have little scope for the exercise of those faculties which have borne such fruit in the building of the Vulcan. When an officer shows himself competent to push on work with dispatch it would appear to be the best thing to keep him at it.

AS Mr. Watson distinctly stated to Mr. Wodehouse, "I am magistrate, that he would appeal against his Honour's decision in the case of the Wong nei chong quarters, we rather think that the China Mail is somewhat out of order in arbitrarily having done the law in a case which is still sub judice. There was a time when such a tabula rasa in the part of this journal would have led to the Editor being hailed up before the Full Court and asked to show cause why he should not be committed to goal for contempt of court. Tempora mutantur—and we suppose that the present Full Court is of opinion that anything the China Mail says is unworthy of consideration, and even beneath contempt. That is also our opinion.

WE read that the Governor-General of Netherlands India has decided to grant commutation of sentence to go out of the 101 prisoners condemned to death lately for insurrection and murder in the province of Batavia. Five of the balance have already been hung at the scene of their crimes. The natives there would not attend the execution, and showed every sign of sympathy for the criminals, and sorrow for their fate. The six other unreprieved convicts will be strung up shortly. The remainder will pay the penalty of their crimes by from 15 to 20 years' hard labour in chains. The Government has taken steps to thwart the disaffected in Batavia, and the police are hard at work tracing out rebels in hiding. Some fugitive hoolies, who had a hard in the rifle, have been caught in East Java. Dutch colonisation is not a striking success.

ALTHOUGH it is flagrant contempt of court, and the height of journalistic indecency for a newspaper to publish the semi-private proceedings that take place in a judge's chambers, the Daily Press of this morning goes out of its way to report that "in the suit pending between Mr. Pitman and Messrs. Wotton and Deacon, the Acting Justice Judge in Chambers on Saturday ordered the Plaintiff to deliver security for the giving of evidence for costs concerned nobody but the plaintiff and defendants, the object of publishing the decision of the Acting Justice Judge could only have been intended to injure the defendant's credit. And who supplied the Daily Press with particulars of the proceedings in Mr. A. G. Wise's chambers? Wotton and Deacon—or was the plaintiff's solicitor the culprit? It would be really interesting to know, and the usual affidavit to the Chief Justice calling upon the Editor of the Daily Press to show cause, etc., would no doubt answer the purpose. Messrs. Wotton and Deacon have lately been attracting quite a large share of public attention in connection with various matters which are scarcely calculated to reflect additional lustre on the spotless fame of an essentially high-toned legal firm. We are waiting—for the bait.

MR. HENRY NORMAN, of the Pail Mail Gazette, clever journalist in his own particular line as he undoubtedly is, has written a good deal of twaddle since he came to this part of the world, but his sketch of "Hongkong and its inhabitants," published in this morning's Daily Press, is so ridiculously feeble and so unlike the truth as to be quite outside the pale of criticism. In plain English, what Mr. Norman has written about this colony is utter nonsense, childish trash that would be quite unworthy of the pen of any erratic scribe of the genus globe-trotter. And Mr. Norman has been long enough here to know better. Almost without exception, every line he has written, from the beginning of his letter to us to close, is inaccurate and misleading. We won't waste time pulling it to pieces; the game is not worth the candle. But we will just give one item, as it refers to a subject of very great importance, to show what an unreliable historian the Pail Mail Commissioner has proved. He says that a striking feature of Hongkong is the elegance and solidity of its public works; that the Tylam Water-works are almost picturesque; and that the aqueduct of asphalt and cement which supplies the city is as smooth and solid as a billiard table and laughs at the tremendous downpour of the rainy season. This may be a fine writing, but it is not true. The rain-fall at the end of May simply washed away a considerable portion of this laughing aqueduct, and played sad havoc with nearly the whole of the other solid (if public works throughout the colony, which are even now in a disgraceful state of ruin. Mr. Norman is quite right in saying that we owe all this to one man, Mr. J. M. Price—we owe all this to Mr. Price, and we have only to know how much in addition, and we are only thankful that he has been sentenced to—the indignity of a C. M. G.—and that Hongkong will know him no more. Mr. Norman has also made the astonishing discovery that Hongkong is not a particularly safe place to live in, even now. There has not been an outrage committed on a foreigner in the colony for many years, so that the Pail Mail Commissioner's "cut-throats" are mere imagination. If Mr. Norman's promised "full-length picture" of Hongkong is not an improvement on this introductory sketch, it is to be hoped he will spare us any further infliction.

MR. G. M. H. PLAYFAIR, acting consul for Great Britain at Tainan, announces that, as the Chinese Government has changed the name of the prefecture to Tainan, the consulate will in future be known as "Her Majesty's Consulate at Tainan."

A POCKET-BOOK'S ADVENTURES.

ON the night of the 17th inst. a French gentleman who was making a short stay in Hongkong went out to buy some curios, and in the course of his peregrinations visited a shop in Queen's Road West. When paying for his purchases he incautiously displayed a number of hundred dollar bank-notes, which were in a red leather pocket book, carelessly stuffed in his outside breast pocket. He left the shop, and a minute or two later was pushed against by a Chinaman, of which he took no notice till, later on, he missed the pocket book. He was going away by the mail next day, so all he could do was to report his loss to the police and hope for the best. The theft was duly booked, with particulars of the three $100 notes, nine $50, and two $25, and there seemed very little prospect of recovering the money, when, yesterday, a clue was found and carefully followed which led to both the purse and the pick-pocket. During the afternoon a middle-aged Chinaman, dressed in stiff silk raiment, and with a gold ring on his best finger, entered the charge-room, and poured out a tale of woe to sympathetic Inspector Perry. He lived near the Ko Shing Theatre, he said, and had fallen in love with a very pretty girl. He had engaged a woman named Ah Kwei as go-between, and after an interview had paid $215 for the girl, but not seeing any more of her, the suspicion gradually lengthened that he had been cheated. So he appealed to the just and upright and powerful authorities, as personified by Mr. Perry. Then the cross-examination commenced. Who and what was he? A soldier in the Annamese service, just come up to Hongkong. He got $650 a month. He had no papers or anything, except a suit of uniform at his lodgings. It had been stolen. He had saved the money out of his pay. Oh yes, he had, and to prove it it was in Tonquin money. (Mr. Perry here turned up the record of the theft.) It was in two $100 notes and other money—he had cashed them at 20-and-a-half shop, as the money-changer could prove. Here the Inspector called up one of the Chinese detectives whom he instructed to go down and find Ah Kwei. She came, in tears. Yes, she knew the man, but only as a lodger who had stayed forty days at her house without paying any rent, and left surreptitiously last week. She had met him that day, and asked him for the money, and he had been very indignant, and gone to look for a policeman. When he was at her house he was very poorly-dressed—no gold ring, no silk clothes—only a pair of grass shoes, a mat, and an umbrella. Again the Chinese Mercury was called up, and he brought up the money which had been changed. In half-an-hour he was back, with some of the identical notes that had been stolen. Just then Detective-Inspector Quincey came in. Mr. Perry asked him to find the red pocket book. It seemed hopeless; but Quincey took the opulent "soldier" into his room, and after a short interview he told where it was to be found. $350 of the $490 had been recovered. Then, in the "virtue victorious" style we used to go and admire on the "Surrey side," the Inspector ordered the man to be led away to a dungeon, pending explanation of how he got his wealth, and told the teary Ah Kwei she might return to her apartments for single gentlemen without a stain of character.

At the Police Court this morning, before Mr. Pollock, the prisoner, together with a coolie and the old woman who last had the pocket-book, were brought up. It transpired from the evidence that the money belonged to Mr. Joseph Headon Muselier, a Chancier from Tonquin, now on his way from Haiphong to Singapore. Evidence bearing out the details given above having been heard, the case was remanded, bail being refused.

LONDON, June 26th.
The Salvation Army quatered in London was called upon for active service in the field to-day to resist an onslaught of London police. The Salvationists fought bravely, but the little band was soon overpowered, and their musical instruments and their flags were smashed and strewn along the street, and the most pugnacious of the number carried off to the lock-up.

LATE TELEGRAMS.

LONDON, July 3rd.
The Shah of Persia, in replying to an address presented to him by the Mayor of Windsor yesterday, said that he sincerely trusted that his visit to England would be attended with good results to Persia. His Majesty further said that he attached the deepest importance to an alliance between the two peoples.

Afternoon.
The reception of the Shah by the Lord Mayor and the Corporation of the City at the Guildhall to-day was a most brilliant pageant. The entire route from Buckingham Palace to the Guildhall was lined with troops, and the decorations of the houses and public buildings were most profuse. The streets were packed with dense crowds of people, who cheered the royal carriage vociferously. His Majesty, in his reply to the address of the Corporation, said that he was greatly impressed with the cordial manner in which he had been received by the people of London, and that he held the friendship, power, and industry of England in the highest esteem. His Majesty hoped that his visit would inaugurate a new era between England and Persia. "Evening."—At a "spread" at the Guildhall which followed the reception of the Shah and the presentation to him of the freedom of the City, in reply to the speech of the Lord Mayor proposing his health, he thanked his lordship for the great honor that had been bestowed upon him by the Corporation, and also for the hospitality which had been extended to him. Lord Salisbury, in his speech on the occasion, said that he hoped that Persia would remain prosperous and strong. England, he said, asked for no exclusive privilege for herself in that country, but only freedom of trade, and urged no friendship which would end in war or aggression, but have a consequence in enterprise and industry.

CAIRO, July 3rd.
Colonel Wodehouse, who left Wady Halfa with a force of Egyptian troops to oppose the advance of the dervishes, has fought an action with them in which the dervishes were defeated with the loss of 500 killed. The loss on the Egyptian side was only 7. Colonel Wodehouse telegraphs that in his engagement with the dervishes he took 500 prisoners. The Egyptian camel corps and cavalry are now pursuing the enemy northwards. In addition to 700 killed on the Egyptian side, Captain J. J. Nason, of the Scottish Rifles, and Lieutenant G. G. Cunningham, of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, who are both attached to the Egyptian Army, were slightly wounded.

LONDON, July 4th.
Sir Roger Lethbridge has resigned his seat for North Kensington. In explaining his reasons to his constituents of North Kensington for resigning his seat, he says that he considers it to be the duty of a member representing a London to remain constantly in London, and this he is unable to do, and consequently resigns; he does not, therefore, seek re-election in London, but will probably contest a country seat. The death is announced of Major Alexander G. Dickson, Conservative member for Dover.

CAIRO, July 4th.
Colonel Wodehouse with his force, is harassing the dervishes very severely and stopping their access to water. Numbers of them have been killed by the cavalry, who are still in pursuit, and those who still survive are suffering terribly from thirst.

ERZERUM, July 4th.
Several Armenians have been arrested here on suspicion of plotting against the Turkish Government.

LONDON, July 5th.
Mr. Dadhabhai Nowrojee yesterday presented the Shah with an address from the Persians, in which His Majesty was thanked for the improvement of the Zoroastrians in Persia. His Majesty in his reply said that he was their protector, and that he greatly liked the Persians. In the House of Commons last night Mr. W. H. Smith moved the appointment of a committee for the purpose of considering the messages from Her Majesty the Queen regarding provision to be made for Prince Albert Victor and Princess Louise of Wales and to report what principle should be adopted in future with respect to similar grants.

Mr. Gladstone concurred in the object of the motion.

Mr. Labouchere contended that grants to members of the Prince of Wales's family should come out of the Civil List.

Mr. Bradlaugh urged that the proposed committee should also inquire into the Civil List generally.

The House eventually adopted Mr. Smith's motion.

The Shah yesterday received in audience at Buckingham Palace the members of Mr. Gladstone's last Cabinet.

Lord Lytton has recovered from his recent illness, and returned yesterday to the Embassy at Paris.

AMOR.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Amoy, 18th July, 1889.
The weather here during the last two weeks has been very hot and dry, causing a lot of fever among the natives of Amoy; otherwise the health of the port has been very good. No cholera of any kind has yet made an appearance.

The Chinese revenue cruiser Ling Feng has been employed lately cruising outside and searching the junks from your port and the Straits Settlements for opium and other contraband goods. She surprised in acting about 300 halls of opium on one junk, but I hear that the so-called search is a farce. The Ling Feng ranges up alongside a junk and looks at her papers, perhaps the boarding officer puts his head down the hatches to see if the cargo is all right, and that is all; it is impossible to make a proper search while at sea.

The night before last there was one of the loudest claps of thunder that has ever been heard in this port, accompanied by two of the most vivid flashes of lightning; fortunately no material damage was done. The house occupied by Mr. Coulthurst was struck, but the lightning only knocked off the top of a chimney and then went through the roof of the kitchen.

I hear that the native opium crop this year is the best that they have ever had.

The charming island of Kulang is rapidly becoming a Chinese city; native houses are springing up in every direction, and Mr. Cheang Hong Lim, a wealthy Singapore merchant, is trying to buy up all or nearly all the foreign-built houses on the island. Nearly half of them are already owned by Chinese.

Mr. W. Holland has arrived from Newchwang, where he has been acting as consul for nearly two years, to take up his post as British vice-consul here.

Dr. C. Merz goes home by the next German mail.

Don't think the Douglas Steamship Company will pay such a handsome dividend this year as they did last, as they have lost nearly all the transhipment of tea to Hongkong for the United States. Both the Occidental and Oriental and Pacific Mail Co.'s steamers are calling here regularly, and take the tea direct.
